

Leadership Development for All Nurses: The Time is Now

Hello again INHWE Members! You may remember that a few weeks ago we mentioned our partnership with the Evidence-Based Nursing blog - Analysis and discussion of developments in Evidence-Based Nursing to run a series of articles with our members from across the globe. Well I am delighted to say the first of those blogs, 'Leadership Development for All Nurses: The Time is Now', produced by Katarzyna (Kasia) Czabanowska, Emily McWhirter and Barbara Stilwell, is now live!

Nurses and midwives make up 50% of the world's healthcare workforce but remain severely under-represented in senior leadership. To address this longstanding concern, we have sought to develop a framework of future-oriented leadership competencies based on evidence of globally acceptable effectiveness. This has been done using a multi-stage research and review process over two years, with the support of the Johnson & Johnson Foundation and in collaboration with representatives of global nursing organizations and universities, led by Sigma Theta Tau International Honor Society of Nursing (Sigma).
