The “Health Professionals’ and the “Digital team” Skills advancement” (H-PASS) project has been devised with the primary objective of supporting EU Member States in fostering team resilience and addressing challenges in care provision arising from skills mismatches or inadequacies. The overarching aim of H-PASS is to design and implement a comprehensive training programme encompassing well-developed modules and appropriate synchronous and asynchronous activities, training materials, and tools that target transversal skills. These skills ensure that health professionals maintain up-to-date and evolving knowledge, effectively bridging existing skills gaps. Notably, H-PASS places significant emphasis on nurturing digital skills among clinical staff in an innovative environment.
