

Invitation: DIGI4ME Final Conference

At the end of September, we have an exciting opportunity for our members who are involved in digital skills education and training. The DIGI4ME Final Conference represents the culmination of an innovative research project that has created a training package to highlight digital technologies in health workforce education. As we approach the conclusion of this project, we are eager to share our findings, experiences, and future prospects with colleagues from across the globe. We'd also like to use it as a platform for our members to highlight their own work in the field.

With this, we would love to invite INHWE members to attend and present their work at this completely free conference, taking place in Athens, Greece on Friday 29th September 2023. The main aim of the conference is to provide stakeholders with a demonstration of the Digi4Me platform for digital skills training in the healthcare sector. EU Educational Institutes, VETs, Health Care Associations, and relevant EU Enterprises will exchange skills, experience, and accessibility to be embodied in a single high-quality training framework, improving Digital Skill training all over European countries.

We have very limited funding for this event but hope that you are able to find support from your institution (and please reach out if you can only find limited support as we may be able to help). The free event will provide you with a space to highlight your research to those attending; we'll provide a free networking lunch (with stunning views over the Acropolis of Athens) and also aim to livestream the event for maximum exposure. If you are interested in attending and/or presenting, please contact me as soon as possible.
