ECHOES Kick-Off Meeting

Hello again INHWE Members! Last week we Matteo and I attended the ECHEOS project in-person kick off meeting in Malta. The project aims to develop a digital platform facilitating the exchange of expertise between healthcare universities, increasing access of students across Europe (and worldwide) to the expertise that are currently unequally distributed. The project has the ambitious aim to have 500 experts and healthcare educators registered and actively using the platform upon completion. Stakeholder engagement is therefore key and the consortium leader has already created a temporary website to engage with educators.

Additionally, the ECHEOS platform will be presented at our #INHWEBarcelona2024 event via an interactive workshop. We hope to meet many potential users of the platform in Spain!
